

The utterances of Bhakti, Sufi and Baul poets have been kept alive over centuries through song, and that is what you find here – live recordings of oral poetry all the way from Pakistan in the west to Bengal in the east, pulsating to rhythm and melody, sung and recorded in contexts as diverse as urban stages and village squares, on trains and road journeys, in living rooms and under the wide open sky.

Aarshi Nogor

sings PARVATHY BAUL

Trivandrum, 2009

In this enigmatic song, Baul saint-poet Lalon evokes the dazzling Arshi Nogor – A City of Mirrors. The story highlights the gulshan-e-na-afreeda (the Uncreated Garden) that Shah Inayat spoke of, to evoke his utopian vision of a world in which the human spirit was not driven by fear, mistrust, oppression and exploitation, but rather was guided by a non-egoic spirit of connection and love.
